HOSTAGE NEGOTIATIONS AND THEIR RETURN

Following his inauguration in January 2025, President Donald Trump made securing the release of the remaining hostages a stated foreign policy priority. The United States worked alongside various other countries to support negotiations aimed at freeing those held captive in Gaza.

Over the course of 2025 and into early 2026, agreements and recovery efforts led to the return of living hostages and the repatriation of the remains of those who had died in captivity. By January 2026, all hostages—both living and deceased—had been returned to their homes, bringing an end to more than two years of uncertainty for many families.

"...OCTOBER 7TH IS A DAY THAT WILL FOREVER LIVE IN INFAMY."
